

HAEMORRHOIDS. No cure no pay!!
Price $1. Hay's Liniment. No fiction.
This extraordinary chemical composition, the result of science and the invention of a celebrated medical man, the introduction of which to the public was invested with the solemnity of a death-bed bequest, has since gained a reputation unparalleled, fully sustaining the correctness of the lamented Dr. Gridley's last confession, that "he dared not die without giving to posterity the benefit of his knowledge on this subject," and he therefore bequeathed to his friend and attendant, Solomon Hays, the secret of his discovery.

It is now used in the principal hospitals, and the private practice in our country, first and most certainly for the cure of the Piles, and also extensively and effectually as a baffle remedy, unless, where its effects are witnessed. Externally in the following complaints:
For Dropsy—Creating extraordinary absorption at once.
All Swellings—Reducing them in a few hours.

Rheumatism—Acute or Chronic, giving quick ease.
Sore Throat—By cancers, ulcers or colds.
Croup, and Whooping Cough—Externally, and over the chest.
All Bruises, Sprains and Burns—Curing in a few hours.

Sores and Ulcers—Whether fresh or long standing, and fever sores.
Its operations upon adults and children in reducing rheumatic swellings, and loosening coughs and tightness of the chest by relaxation of the parts, has been surprising beyond conception.—The common remark of those who have used it in the Piles, is "It acts like a charm."

THE PILES.—The price $1 is refunded to any person who will use a bottle of Hay's Liniment for the Piles, and return the empty bottle without being cured. These are the positive orders of the proprietor to the Agents; and out of many thousands sold, not one has been unsuccessful.

We might insert certificates to any length, but prefer that those who sell the article, should exhibit the original to purchasers.
CAUTION.—None can be genuine without a splendid engraved wrapper, on which is my name, and also that of the Agents.

SOLEMON HAYS.
TO EDITORS, &c.—All country papers who will insert the above 6 months, and send one number to the Agents, shall be entitled to one dozen of the Liniment.
Sole wholesale and retail by COMSTOCK & Co., Sole Agents, 2 Fletcher street, near Maiden Lane, one door below Pearl st. New York, and by one druggist in every town in the Union. For sale at every Druggist store in this city. Sept. 7. 23y1

BALDNESS.
A BEAUTIFUL head of Hair is the grandest ornament belonging to the human frame. How strangely the loss of it changes the countenance, and prematurely brings on the appearance of old age, which causes many to recoil at being uncovered, and sometimes even shun society to avoid the jests and sneers of their acquaintance; the remainder of their lives is consequently spent in retirement. In short, not even the loss of property fills the generous thinking youth with that heavy sinking gloom as does the loss of his hair. To avert all these unpleasant circumstances, OLDRIDGE'S BALM OF COLUMBIA stops the hair from falling off on the first application, and a few bottles restores it again. It likewise produces eyebrows and whiskers; prevents the hair from turning gray, makes it curl beautifully, and frees it from scurf. Numerous certificates of the first respectability in support of the virtues of Oldridge's Balm are shown by the proprietors.

Read the following.
ROBERT WHARTON, Esq., late Mayor of Philadelphia, has certified, as may be seen below, to the high character of the following gentleman:

The undersigned does hereby certify that we have used the Balm of Columbia discovered by J. Oldridge, and have found it highly serviceable, not only as a preventive against the falling off of hair, but also a certain restorative.

WM. THATCHER, Sen., Methodist Minister, in St. George charge, JOHN P. INGLIS, 391 Arch st.
JOHN D. THOMAS, M.D. 163 Race st.
JOHN S. FUREY, 101 Spruce st.
HUGH McCURDY, 243 South 7th st.
JOHN GARD, Jr. 125 Arch st.
It will certainly raise its virtues in the estimation of the public, when it is known that three of the above signers are more than 50 years of age, and the others not less than 30.
[From the Mayor.]

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
City of Philadelphia,
I, ROBERT WHARTON, Mayor of said city of Philadelphia, do hereby certify that I am well acquainted with J. P. Inglis, John S. Furey, and Hugh McCurdy, whose names are signed to the above certificate, and they are gentlemen of character and respectability, and as such full credit should be given to the said certificate.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the city to [L. S.] be affixed this sixth day of December, &c.

ROBERT WHARTON, Mayor.
CAUTION.—Observe that each bottle of the genuine Balm has a splendid engraved wrapper, on which is represented the Falls of Niagara, the agent's name, &c.
To Editors, &c.—All country papers who will insert the above once a week 6 months, and send one number to the Agents, shall be entitled to one dozen of Balm.
Sole wholesale and retail by COMSTOCK & Co., Sole Agents for America, 2 Fletcher st., near Maiden Lane, one door below Pearl st. New York; and by one or more druggists in nearly every town in the Union. For sale at every Druggist store in this city. 23y1

NEW STORE.
THE subscribers have opened a Boot, Shoe and Leather Store, opposite the Temperance House, and one door east of the Exchange, where they intend manufacturing, and keeping constantly on hand, Boots and Shoes of every description to suit the purchaser.
Gaiter Boots, Ladies' Slippers, Men's Pumps, coarse and fine Men's Boots, Shoe Findings, &c. for manufacturers.
Also, an assortment of Children's Shoes, Leather of all kinds at the lowest prices, and a few boxes of Cotton cloth, by the piece or bale. All of which they will sell for Cash, Hides or Produce, as low as the business will afford.

Our PAPER.—Our friends may be assured that if they are disappointed by the failure of our paper, we are still more so, and they may imagine any excuse that they please. Newspaper publishers are but mortal, and are of course the subjects of casualty, as well as others.

CONSERVATIVES.—There are in every county in the state a number of electors, who were among the most consistent supporters of Jackson's administration, but are not prepared to surrender their judgement and blindly follow the present administration in all its measures; convinced as they are that these measures are not conducive to the best interests of the country, and in no sense in unison with republican principles. The party in power, aware of this, endeavor, by heaping upon the conservatives all manner of abuse, and by identifying them with the whig party, to overawe and prevent them coming out and expressing their sentiments. Such a course may have its effect upon men who have no fixed principles—mere party slaves—but it cannot avail with men of independent minds, who choose to exercise their judgement, and determine for themselves what measures do or do not accord with democratic principles. In a few of the counties, they have asserted their independence and rallied in opposition to the sub-treasury in all its shapes and forms. Rejected as it has been, repeatedly, by congress, and condemned by the people, it is viewed as entirely subversive of the principles of democracy, and the ancient landmarks of the party.

From present appearance, there will be an organization of conservatives in a large number of the counties, before the fall elections; and they will make their power to be felt. In DuChesne, seventy late partisans of Jackson and Van Buren have subscribed a paper in which they declare they will "support no man for any office at the ensuing election, unless he is unequivocally opposed to the Sub-Treasury, and in favor of the unconditional repeal of the law prohibiting the circulation of small bills." They also recommend that a state convention be held to "consider the proper person to be supported for governor and lieutenant governor." In Ulster too, the conservatives have rallied against the sub-treasury, and unite with DuChesne in calling a state convention. This independent and fearless course will stir up the conservatives in other counties, to contend for their principles, and take a stand against a course of measures which are clearly opposed by a large majority of the people.—Hudson N. Y. Rep.

The Westchester and Putnam Republican, publishes the proceedings of the Republican convention held at this place on the 15th inst., and accompanies them with the following remarks:—"It must be evident to Mr. Van Buren and the leaders of the administration party, from the movements which are everywhere apparent, that the people are not disposed to yield their support to measures which they deem inconsistent with the true principles of republican government, and that sound policy which has hitherto favored their growing enterprise; and that this disposition has been exhibited in particular by those who have been foremost in placing the present incumbents in power, is equally obvious. Under these impressions, we had hoped those obnoxious measures would have been withdrawn, and the great republican party permitted to extend its usefulness, as heretofore, in harmony. In this it appears, we have been mistaken, and instead of a relaxation, the line is drawn closer to the favorite point, thus forcing the independent portion of the republican family to organize in their own defence, and trust the issue to the ballot boxes, where the people can deposit their will without fear or favour.—Pough. Jour.

BONDS SPEECH.—The effect of this speech upon the Vanocut Leaders would be diverting did it not discover the utter destitution of truth and honor in that portion of our fellow citizens. It furnishes a glass, in which they may see their perfect likeness; and I don't wonder that they start back with disgust, and curse the manufacturer. The man who denies its truth, believing what he says; is not to be envied for his knowledge of American history for the last ten years. And they who say, it is false, knowing better, (which is by far the greater part) deserve to be despised, as traitors to their country.

However, their course is natural, and brings to mind two similarities that transpired within my knowledge of men and things.
A man was travelling with a bludgeon, and a dog came in his way and he gave him a heavy blow. "What did you strike my dog for?" enquired the owner. "He is mad and he bit me!" "No," returned the owner. "Then he is a fool, for I struck him hard enough," replied the other.

Before the days of rail roads and canals, it was the custom of the Mohawkers to raft lumber down the river to Schenectady, there store it until winter, and then sleigh it to Albany. A Yankee stored a parcel in a dutchmans yard, and in the winter when he went for it, he found a part of it stolen. He took what remained, and went away without paying for storage. The dutchman, a tavern keeper followed him for his pay. "However, he soon returned in a great rage. "Some one enquired what he replied. "Matter enough by dundee," he replied. "Dat yankee has filled my yard with boards all summer, and I asked him for pay, and he called me a thief and a liar and a scoundrel, and every thing that was bad."

A LOCOFOCO FALSHOOD.—The Locofoco editors pretended to say, that the banks were forced into the resumption against their will. What was the nature of the force employed? The popular voice, the Vans. Indeed! How can this be, when every election, excepting that of Missouri, which has been held since the suspension, has resulted in overwhelming triumph for those who opposed the attacks upon the banks! Even in Missouri, where last year we had but 24 members of the Legislature, the Whigs—the Bank Whigs, have now 52! The pensioned press ought to endeavor to give plausibility to their falsehoods.—O. State Jour.

AUDITOR BRYAN.—A few years ago, John A. Bryan, a leader of the Locofoco party of this State, was friendly to the establishment of a State Bank with a capital of seven millions of dollars. Mr. Bryan regarded as "salutary" the provisions of a proposed charter, although neither Directors nor Stockholders were made individually liable, nor was a clause reserving the Legislature the right of repeal! No forfeiture of the charter was to follow a suspension of specie payments, and but ten per cent damages on protested notes to be allowed! Now, Mr. Bryan, and Mr. Bryan's followers, profess to regard all these matters as essential. The People, however begin to understand that they make and break promises as suits the object of the moment.—O. State Jour.

Will our friend of the Rochester Democrat—who says paper by the way, don't come to hand as regularly as we desire—inform us what profound genius concocted the following resolution which we see by the Argus was adopted at a Republican Young Men's Convention in Monroe County.

Resolved, That as freemen engaged in the holy struggle of "liberty," we will press onward with renewed and increasing energy, until we have seen the bright star of democracy, enlightening and vivifying the now benighted and sterile paths of federal whiggery.

Rochester possesses some loco foco penmen who possess an astonishing "power of diction."—Troy Mail.

BALLOONING.—A Wm. J. Wise recently ascended in a balloon at Easton, Pennsylvania. When he had reached the height of 13,000 feet his balloon exploded. With no other damage than having his shoulder slightly bruised. He gives notice that he intends shortly to make another ascent.—Cincinnati Gaz.

GOVERNOR BRANCH.—Having been beaten in his race for Governor of North Carolina, by about 15,000 votes, is said to have retired—not to the "Deserts of Araby"—but to Florida, where he is a candidate for the Convention to form a Constitution.—Id.

ILLINOIS ELECTION.—Extracts from the Chicago American Extra, of the 20th August, which we find in the Detroit Advertiser of Friday last, appear to settle this long vexed question:
The Chicago paper states on the authority of a letter from Springfield, dated Aug. 26th, that Stuart is elected by a majority of 53 votes, and further, that this is conceded by the Editor of the Sangamo Journal. (V. B.)

The same correspondent says that the Legislature will stand as follows:—Senate 22 Whigs, 2 Conservatives, 18 loco focos. House 46 Whigs, 5 Conservatives, 41 loco focos.—Clev. Her.

WHIG CONVENTION IN MICHIGAN.—We learn from the Detroit Advertiser, that this body, which met at Ann Arbor, on the 5th inst. comprised nearly two hundred delegates, representing almost every county in the state. Harmony and energy characterized the proceedings, and the Advertiser predicts with confidence, the election of H. G. Wells, Esq. of Kalamazoo, the Whig candidate for congress.—Clev. Her.

CALHOUN.—A few political presses are speculating on the probability of Mr. Calhoun being run for the Presidency at the next election. This is rather the most absurd idea we have heard put forth for some time. We cannot imagine a contingency which would afford the least chance for the election of this extraordinary man to the Chief Magistracy of this Union; and we know of no circumstance that would fill the breasts of Patriots with more alarm and fear than such an elevation. This master spirit of nullification has nothing to hope or expect from the American people—he has made his own grave and he must sleep in it.—Cincinnati.

TEXAS.—A Letter from Texas of a late date says that the hon. James Collinsworth, chief justice of the Republic, was found in Galveston Bay a few days ago. The body was much mutilated, and there were marks about it which led to the belief that he had been murdered. He had a large sum of money with him when at Galveston. He was a man of extensive research, of superior talents, and every way admirably qualified to fill the responsible station which he held in the thriving little republic.—Fort Wayne Sentinel.

EX-PRESIDENT JACKSON.—We understand from a gentleman who arrived from the south yesterday afternoon, that he learned from a friend of Gen. Jackson's, that the General had a few days before, burst another blood-vessel, and that he was quite ill.—Phil. Herald.

STATUARY MARBLE.—A Southern paper states that Mr. Featherstonhaugh, United States Geologist, has discovered White Statuary Marble in the Cherokee country. The quarry is thought to be inexhaustible, and in quality is said to be fully equal to the marble obtained from Massa Carrara, Italy. For a long time the Italian marble has been used exclusively by sculptors, and blocks of it are annually transported to various countries at great expense. The block for the statue of Hamilton in the N. Y. Exchange, which was destroyed during the great fire, cost $2,000. The discovery of this quarry, if it proves to be all it is represented, will be of immense advantage to the art of sculpture in this country.—Buff. Patriot.

Governor Marcy has offered a reward of two hundred and fifty dollars for the detection and apprehension of the murderer of Thomas French, who was found killed at Mount Pleasant, Westchester county, on the 11th inst.

CIRCASSIAN WOMEN.—The Circassian ladies, when in doors employed themselves in embroidery, in which they excel, in spinning wool and flax, making clothes for the family, fabricating mantles from the hair of goats and camels, cushions for the saddle, housing, shoes, and even sheaths, for the sword. They shine also in the dairy and culinary departments. Their skhon, a species of sour milk, is celebrated. They never use fresh milk, which they consider to be unwholesome; they boil it as soon as it is taken from the cow—when cool they mix it with sugar and a little of the old skhon; they then flavor it with a little rose water, and in a few hours afterwards it becomes thick and fit for use. This preparation preserves the milk from corruption during the hottest weather. It forms a cool and most delicious draught, and may be said to constitute the principle article in the Circassian code of diet.—They eat it at breakfast with boiled millet; at noon, and in the evening, with the pilaff of rice or boiled wheat. In winter it is kept in tubs sprinkled with salt, when it forms a consistency almost like cheese. I have lived upon this species of curd for some days while voyaging on the Danube, and found it very agreeable and salutary food.

It is from such families as those I have just described, that the harems of Turkey and Persia are principally supplied. Their ancient customs sanction the sale of their young females, and every care is taken of the beauty in order to enhance their value. This mode of providing for them is in fact considered the most advantageous, and the most consonant to the feelings of the ladies themselves which they can adopt.—Being a remarkably proud people, and retaining the recollections of a chivalrous ancestry, they disdain to intermarry with any of the mountain tribes around them. The splendid attire, and the wealth with which Circassian women return occasionally to their native hamlets, after having lived abroad for some years, animate the ambition of the maidens who have not yet stirred from home. They listen with eagerness to the representations they hear of the luxuries to which their beauty would entitle them in distant lands, and their natural spirit of adventure and romance soon determines them as to the course which they should take the moment the opportunity presents itself. It may be asked what great difference is there between a bevy of Circassian girls embarked for Constantinople or Trebizond, with a view to change their condition, and a cabin full of English young ladies, fresh from the boarding school, emigrating to India for a similar purpose?

The true Circassian, however, generally prefers selling his daughter at home, if he can find a suitable consort for her among his own tribe, to sending her abroad. A suit of Persian armor, or a number of choice cimeters or curiously inlaid guns, sometimes constitute the price. Where these articles are not to be obtained, horses, cows, sheep or the personal services of the suitor for a limited period, are taken in exchange.—N. Quin.

THE MISTROOM WHIRLPOOL.—Letter from a gentleman in Washington to the Hon. A. B. Woodward, Judge of Middle Florida.

This Wonderful Phenomenon, that has excited the wonder and astonishment of the world, I have seen. There are few of my countrymen who have had the opportunity, in consequence of the situation of it being remote from any port of commerce. Its latitude and longitude I do not exactly recollect. It is situated between two islands, belonging to a group off the coast of Norway, called the Dow-in-Suff Islands, between Drontheim (being the most northern point of commerce) and the North Cape. I suppose the latitude to be about 69 north, but will not be certain.

I had occasion some years since to navigate a ship from North Cape to Drontheim, nearly all the way between islands or rocks and the main. On enquiring of my Norway pilot, about the practicability of running near the whirlpool, he told me that with a good breeze it could be approached near enough for examination without danger. I at once determined to satisfy myself. We began to near it about 10 a. m. in the month of September, with a fine leading wind north-west.—Two good seamen were placed at the helm, and the mate on the quarter deck, all hands at their stations for working ship, and the pilot standing on the bowsprit, between the night heads. I went on the mainmast yard, with a good glass. I had been seated but a few moments when my ship entered the dish of the whirlpool; the velocity of the water altered her course three points toward the centre, although she was going eight knots through the water.

This alarmed me extremely; for a moment I thought that destruction was inevitable. She, however, answered her helm sweetly, and we ran along the edge, the waves foaming around us in every form, while she was dancing gaily over them. The sensations I experienced are difficult to describe. Imagine to yourself an immense circle, running round, of a diameter of one and a half miles, the velocity increasing as it approximated toward the centre, and gradually changing its dark blue color to white—foaming, tumbling rushing to the vortex; very much concave, as much so as the water in a tunnel when half run out: the noise, too, hissing, roaring, dashing—all pressing on the mind, at once presented the most awful, grand, solemn sight I ever experienced.

We were near it about eighteen minutes, and in sight of it about two hours. It is evidently a subterranean passage that leads—the Lord knows where. From its magnitude, I should not doubt that instant destruction would be the fate of a dozen of our largest ships, were they drawn in at the same moment. The pilot says that several vessels have been sucked down, and that whales also have been destroyed. The first I think probable enough, but I rather doubt the latter.—Mich. Her.

LIBERTY ON BOTH SIDES.—A ragged militia officer, and still more bandy legged negro, met at the bar of a public house, where the following conversation took place.—Cuff, you're a good honest fellow, and I like to compliment a man who's lived an honest life if he is black; you shall take a glass of drink with me Cuff. Well, capting, I's berry dry, so I wont be ugly 'bout it; some niggers is too proud to drink with a militia officer; but when he's sober he is as good as nigger—specially when de nigger's dry.

The Chicago Democrat says Wisconsin money is at 25 per cent. discount in that city. Doubtful.

UNION OF THE MISSISSIPPI AND THE LAKE.—We have taken occasion to advert several times to the canal which is to connect the Fox and Wisconsin rivers at or near Fort Winnebago. To the commerce of the lakes, and to Buffalo in particular, the prompt completion of that work is of great importance. It will be the means of diverting a great share of the valuable Upper Mississippi trade, from its present long, circuitous and expensive route down the river to New Orleans, and thence, round by sea, to an eastern market, to the city, and thence, by the Erie canal, to New York—a route that is comparatively direct, cheap and safe. It is one of the thousand works of internal improvement now in progress, all of which tend to lake Erie as a common centre, and which when completed, will be the channels of an immense trade, and the sources of almost boundless wealth.

A correspondent of the Cleveland Herald and Gazette, speaking of the Fox river canal, says:—"The contract is for its completion by October, 1839, cost about $30,000. Its length will be a little more than a mile. One lock with a lift of seven feet is only required.

Water flows across the Portage from the Wisconsin, so much, I learn, as to render the work inconvenient at present. One or two boats have this year passed across into the Wisconsin.

When the canal is finished and some contemplated improvements are made in the navigation of the Fox river, it is probable that lead from the mining country will be brought through this channel for the supply of all the country adjacent to the lakes. I saw here recently a considerable quantity of lead and shot for your place, from Goleen on the Wisconsin.—Buffalo Patriot.

We commend to our Steam Boat and Rail Road managers a practice which is adopted at the South, which contributes alike to the convenience of all, and to the safety of the travellers' baggage. In travelling in Maryland, &c. you deliver your baggage to a man who has special charge of this department. He immediately attaches to it a strap to which is a tin ticket numbered, and gives you a duplicate ticket with a corresponding number. The baggage is not delivered without the presentation of this duplicate ticket; so that the passenger has leisure to take care of the ladies whom he may have in charge, or to look up lodging, and may then send or call for his baggage. So excellent is the arrangement, that the writer of this received a clothe's bag in New York which he had accidentally left in a passenger car in Maryland, by the earliest conveyance.—Albany Ec. Jour.

ENTERPRISE OF MONROE.—The freeholders of the thriving city of Monroe have voted to raise $25,000 for the purpose of completing the ship canal commenced by the U. S. Government connecting the waters of the Raisin with Lake Erie and for improving the navigation of the Raisin. The work is to be commenced immediately.—Detroit Adv.

The N. Y. American states that the proceeds of the Smithsonian bequest—about half a million—have been loaned to the new bank, organizing under the presidency of Mr. Peers, on the security of an equal amount of Arkansas stock, bearing an interest of six per cent.

A "right whale" was picked up at sea, dead, and towed ashore at Salisbury Point, near Newburyport, on Tuesday of last week. The Newburyport Herald states that on Wednesday, 1467 persons passed the bridge to visit it. The number who landed in boats was full as large in addition.

A VERMONT REPARTEE.—A recruiting officer whispered to a rosy-cheeked dame as she was putting on her bonnet at the close of a quiting party: "Will you allow me to accompany you home?" "No, sir, I am engaged," said she in a loud tone, so as to give notoriety to the transaction. "You miss it most prodigiously!" said the military wag, "for I have got both pockets chuck full of gingerbread!"

Among the curiosities of the day is a newspaper printed in the Italian language, at Tunis, near the site of ancient Carthage.

The Providence folks have decided by a vote that no more licenses shall be granted for the sale of liquor.

Wonder if there is any truth in the report that a man died yesterday of lock-jaw, caused by treading on the bill of a musquito, as the "varmint" laid on his back? We have seen them large enough to talk, but the other story is a poser.—N. O. Picayune.

WARLIKE.—We learn from the Bangor Whig that a thousand stand of arms arrived in that city on Saturday last, from Portland, for the purpose of arming forthwith the Lincoln Frontier Regiment. This looks as if Governor or Kent was in earnest.

"Variety is the spice of life," thought the shoemaker as he was chewing wax, leather and tobacco, all at once.

DOMESTIC WINE.—When our southern friends were with us on Saturday evening, among other wines, we gave them to drink of some domestic wine from the Catawba grape, made by Mr. Jacob Resor, at his place about six miles below this city, on the river bank. The gentlemen were in every respect competent judges, and were not informed of the kind of wine, or where produced until they had given their opinion of it; which was that "it in every respect resembled, and was fully equal to, the Black of the Rhine." This wine, it will be recollected, is of last years vintage. What a delicious drink it will be, when it has age to add to its fine body and excellent flavor; yet we import wines! A fraction less than half an acre produced twenty-two barrels of this wine, including a small portion from the Isabella grape.—Cincinnati Post.

GOOD.—The Picayune thinks that a good Oculist could do an excellent business at Niagara. Upwards of a thousand visitors are there; and every mother's son has the cataract in his eye.

There is a man in this city so deep in love, that he can neither eat, sleep, stand or lie down.—Cincinnati.

ARREST OF A MEMBER OF THE NEW YORK BAR.—Mr. Peter B. Manchester, a lawyer of respectable standing in New York, has been arrested and imprisoned on a charge of receiving stolen goods and conniving with felons. On Saturday evening, the prisoner was locked up amid a scene the most distressing—the tears and lamentations of friends and relatives.

The Sunday Morning News says: We are requested to desire the public to suspend their opinion on this subject, until the accused can have an opportunity of exonerating himself from the charge.—Cincinnati.

FUNDS OF ABOLITION.—The last dates from the West Indies states, on the 1st of August the apprentices were set free. The negroes instantly struck for wages, refusing to work for any thing like those tendered them by the planters. Accounts of the desertion of the negroes are stated as truly deplorable. Cane pieces destroyed by cattle, and the coffee dropping to the ground to rot, where the further of the country reports. The overseers in some instances were left without a single assistant.—Cincinnati.

NEAPOLITAN INDEMNITY.—The Government have received $231,035 of the Neapolitan Indemnity, which will be paid to claimants at the Bank of America.

DIED.
At the residence of his son at Cleveland, on the 18th inst., LEVI BRUSH Esq. of this place, after a lingering illness.

In this city, on Friday morning, the 16th inst., WILLIAM CURTHER, of this place, a native of Ayrshire, in Scotland, aged about twenty-three years. He was a young man of excellent character, possessing all the good qualities of the kind-hearted nation from which he came.

NEW FALL AND WINTER GOODS.
THE subscribers are now receiving and opening, direct from New York, the largest, and best assortment of goods that we have ever offered in this city, a good share of which have been purchased for cash, and selected with peculiar care, expressly for this market, we flatter ourselves that they are so purchased, that we can and are offering to those who wish to buy for cash goods at less prices than they have been offered in this city, and we do most earnestly invite all that wish to purchase goods at great bargains, and goods too, combining durability, fashion and cheapness, to give us a call, before buying elsewhere.
